Preventative Healthcare

The old saying "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is especially true when applied to health care. But each year, millions of Americans choose to skip routine examinations, allowing preventable diseases to end hundreds of thousands of lives.

Immunizations, vaccines, check-ups, routine physicals--they're all essential to good health. Even if you're in the best shape of your life, a serious condition with no signs or symptoms may be lurking inside your body. X-rays, blood tests and other routine screenings are among the only ways to detect the early warning signs. If a specific condition runs in your family, like colon cancer, it's even more important that you get screened early and often to keep healthy.

Be sure to get your annual preventive exams. Begin your new year, as a healthier you.
